May 8 Seminar, Meeting To Showcase New State of the Art in HVAC Products

On Monday, May 8, you'll have the opportunity to see and learn a lot about the newest, hottest products in heating, ventilating, air conditioning and refrigeration. This topic will be discussed in detail not only at our dinner meeting but also a half-day seminar before the meeting. The setting for both events will be the ComEd Commercial Center Auditorium in Oak Brook, Ill. (See the enclosed flier for complete seminar details and to sign up for one or both events.)

The afternoon "maxi-tech" seminar will feature five presenters who will cover products ranging from air distribution systems to valve technology. They will discuss related issues, concepts and techniques. They'll also talk about design features, energy efficiency and product applications. The discussion of new what's new in HVAC will also carry on into the dinner meeting following the seminar, where another presentation is planned.

Speakers include Jerry McClellan, Honeywell; Wally Kurzeja, Belimo Air Controls; Dave Egbers, Siemens Building Technologies; and Janet Lynch, Johnson Controls. An additional speaker will be on hand for the meeting.

Registration for the seminar will take place at 1:30 p.m. The seminar will conclude at 5:30 and be followed immediately by the monthly meeting. The dinner meeting program is optional and not included in the seminar cost; however, you may register for both programs at the same time and save a few dollars.

Members and guests are invited to attend the seminar and dinner meeting. For seminar registration information, see the flier enclosed in this newsletter. For dinner meeting reservations only, please call our 24-hour reservations number at (708) 636-3604. Advance registration for both events costs $50, and will save you $5 over attending and paying for both events separately (Seminar only: $35; Dinner meeting only: $25).
